Girl's Fiance In Statement Says "Suicide Pact"

Lincoln Lad Held Following Girl's Death From Poison

(Associated Press)
Lincoln, Ill., Apr. 27—Daniel Hurley, aged 19, who is charged with causing the death by poison of Miss Katherine Roller, said they had a suicide pact. The girl, a pretty seventeen year old miss of Broadwell, Logan county, died in convulsions after a buggy ride with Hurley on Saturday night. Miss Roller, whose parents are wealthy, had been the fiance of Hurley, but the couple are said to have quarreled recently.

The state's attorney of Logan county questioned Hurley regarding the incidents of the drive. "I don't know anything about her death," he said. "We drove to Broadwell and had some ham sandwiches and candy. A few minutes after eating the sandwiches she said she was ill and asked to be taken home. She had convulsions before we reached home, although I drove as fast as I could." When asked regarding a purchase of strychnine he was alleged to have made three days ago, Hurley said: "My brother bought the strychnine for a sick horse. I had nothing to do with it."

A small paper container marked "strychnine" was found near a pump where the couple stopped for a drink. Coroner William Ryan of Logan county came to Chicago with the viscera of Miss Roller and asked Coroner Peter M. Hoffman to assist in trying to clear the mystery surrounding the young woman's death.

Coroner Ryan informed Mr. Hoffman that he has learned that the young man went to Lincoln, Ill., last Friday evening and purchased a quantity of strychnine in a drug store, telling the prescription clerk that the poison was to be used for a sick horse.

Brinton to Head Chamber of Commerce Is Plan

Is Too Valuable To City To Be Allowed To Rest
In Peace

The term of O. H. Martin, as president of the Citizens' Association, now known as the Chamber of Commerce, has expired, and as the practice is for the executive officer of the association to hold the position for one term only, the newly elected directorate, which is to be increased in number by another election shortly, will elect a new president for the Chamber of Commerce.

The plan of the Dixon business men is to elect Colonel W. B. Brinton as president of the organization. The former mayor having retired from the city office, has no responsibility upon his shoulders in the way of city development. The citizens of Dixon know that he is too valuable to the city to be allowed to rest in peace, and so the proposal comes to put the Colonel on a job that will require the exercise of his capable and valuable influence for the further good of Dixon.

N. DIXON SCHOOLS TO GIVE FESTIVAL AT PARK ON MAY 20

OPEN AIR PROGRAM WILL BE AT TRAFFIC FEATURE OF
YEAR'S WORK

STUDENTS ARE NOW GARDENERS

Are Showing Marked Interest In Flower and Vegetable Growing

The May Festival, in preparation for which the pupils of the North Dixon schools have been at work for some time, has been postponed until May 20, at which time the pretty exercises will be given on the lawn at Assembly Park. There will be music, drills, dances, etc., by the pupils of the grades, while the young ladies of the high school will give a May Pole dance, which should be a decidedly pretty feature.

Learning Gardening
A feature of the educational work being done in the North Dixon schools this year which is attracting a great deal of attention is the teaching of gardening. At the Loveland school a half-acre tract has been plowed up and the students of that school are doing all of the gardening work which includes the raising of all kinds of vegetables and flowers. All of the work is done after school hours and the young people have shown a decidedly gratifying interest in it.

There is no room for a garden at the North Dixon school proper, but the pupils are being encouraged in home gardening and ten prizes have been offered for the best tomatoes which are raised by students during this year. Over 200 of the pupils are now doing the garden work.

Public Meeting To Discuss Work On Road Paving

Mass Meeting Will Be Held At
Circuit Court Rooms
This Evening

A public meeting of all who are interested in the pavement of the Lincoln Highway through the township of Dixon, for which $50,000 bonds were voted at the town election April 6, will be held in the Circuit court rooms at the court house at 8 this evening, at which time details of the proposed improvement and the time for commencing operations will be discussed.

The meeting is sponsored by the Dixon Chamber of Commerce and a good representation of citizens of the township is desired. There has been some agitation over a delay in starting the work, some wanting the officials to commence work at once, others wishing to wait until next year before beginning operations. The sense of the meeting will be taken on this proposition, and the specifications for the road will also be discussed.

MORRIS COOK, ALTO SUPERVISOR NEW BOARD CHAIRMAN

WAS ELECTED OVER JAS. BUCKLEY OF MAY; VOTE WAS 14 TO 10.

IS POPULAR WITH MEMBERS

Contest Narrowed to Two When the County Dads Met For Organization.

Morris Cook, supervisor from Alto township, the northeast township in the county, was today elected chairman of the Lee county board of supervisors over James Buckley of May township, by a vote of 14 to 10.

For several weeks there have been rumors in the air of various candidates for chairman, most active of these being former Chairman C. C. Buckaloo of Nelson township, Supervisor John Grove of Willow Creek, Supervisor Morris Cook of Alto and James Buckley of Maytown. When the supervisors met here today in response to the call for the organization meeting, conferences were held and Buckaloo and Grove withdrew from the race before the opening of the session.

The board was called to order soon after 2 o'clock by Chairman Buckaloo. County Clerk Fred G. Dimick read the list of newly elected members, only two of whom, however, are new to the board—Ira W. Trostle of China township replacing Chris Gross and Ernest Dysart of Nachusa, who comes in place of F. G. Emmert. The newly elected members were approved by the unanimous vote of the board.

Candidates Nominated.

Nominations for chairman were called for and Supervisor John J. Wagner of Bradford placed the name of Supervisor Morris Cook of Alto in nomination. Supervisor Edwards of Amboy then nominated Supervisor James Buckley of Maytown for the office and there being no further nominations the vote was taken by ballot, with Kyle C. Miller and U. Grant Dysart as tellers.

The result of the first ballot was the election of Morris Cook as chairman for the ensuing year, by a vote of 14 for Cook and 10 for Buckley. Chairman Cook made a graceful address of acceptance and thanks to the board, after he had been escorted to the chair by a committee composed of Supervisors Buckley and McCleary.

Supervisor Mannion of Harmon brought up the matter of the important work the board of review will have to do this year because of the reclassification of property in the county, and suggested that it was very important the members of the board of review be appointed because of efficiency.

Supervisor Mannion moved that the board adopt Roberts' manual of rules on parliamentary law for the coming year, but Supervisor Brucker objected that the rules had not been read and that, anyway, he didn't know Roberts or anything about him and so the motion was amended upon motion of Supervisor Buckley so that a committee composed of Buckley, Mannion and McCleary will investigate the rules and proposition and report.

Buckley Wants Back Seat.

Supervisor Mannion made a motion that seat number 23, the "hoodoo" seat on the board (which for some time has been placed in a posi-

SEEING AMERICA FIRST—THE YOSEMITE VALLEY.

The Yosemite Valley is a room made by nature a few million years ago to show man, when he came along, that he need not be too proud of his big exposition buildings and Union stations.

The Yosemite Valley is located 140 miles east of San Francisco, at a point where the Sierra Nevada mountains suddenly refrain for a brief distance as if some Titanic architect had sliced them off with a cheese knife. The valley is seven miles long and from half a mile to two miles wide. It is carpeted with nice green meadows and dainty little pine trees 200 feet high, which look from the rocks above like stubble on a stage Irishman's chin. The Merced River, a pretty little stream, runs through the valley—which has two doors, one to let the river in, and the other to let it out. It is beautifully frescoed in red, yellow and green and is from half a mile to a mile high, and tolerably straight up and down. No one has as yet provided the valley with a roof, but if it could be covered and moved nearer the center of population, it would make a cute little convention hall for the original Wilson men.

The most impressive feature of the Yosemite Valley is not the Merced river, which enters it by the front door in a respectable manner, but the number of rivers which approach it from above, and suddenly fall into it to their intense astonishment. The valley is decorated with marvelous waterfalls. They vary in height from a few hundred to 2500 feet. Tourists travel thousands of miles to see these falls, and owing to the fact that they are in a government park, no enterprising speculators have been able to litter them up with improvements.

"Yosemite" is an Indian word meaning "grizzly bear." Thus "Yosemite Valley" means "grizzly bear of a valley." And yet they say that slang is modern!

WASHING WON'T RID HEAD OF DANDRUFF

Dissolve It, That's Best Way.

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to preserve your hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

POLITICAL DEALS BARED AT TRIAL

Letters Show Roosevelt Got Along Well with Platt.

EVEN BIPARTISAN GOT OFFICE

Colonel, However, Declares That All His Acts Were in Interest of Public—He Had Poor Opinion of Hughes, but Favored Nomination for Availability.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 27.—Colonel Roosevelt had to admit Monday that once he walked with the wicked and breakfasted with the unrighteous, not that he always accepted their ways, nor weakly heeded their whispers; that was by no means revealed in the long cross examination regarding his political intimacy with the easy boss (Platt) and the ex-boss's lieutenants. It was shown, however, that he had not begun to separate the Jekylls from the Hydes in 1899, his first year as governor; and that he was at great pains to please Senator Platt, hastening to this place and that at Platt's suggestion or his own for vice, quiet, comfortable chats over desirable legislation, who should be made judges or how messages to the legislature should deal with the trusts. They met, the governor and the easy boss, most often at the Fifth Avenue hotel, where Platt lived, or at the home of Douglas Robinson.

Only for Good Government.

But these confessions, said the colonel, did not mean that there was invisible government at work, such invisible government as he had accused Barnes of maintaining, but that, in the cause of righteousness and for the sake of substantial justice it was necessary for him to recognize Platt and the organization to get popular measures through the legislature. He had to deal with Platt to make sure the will of the people was not defeated. Platt controlled the legislature. What could a man do? Wm. L. Barnum of this city took up the work of cross examination left off by Mr. Ivin on Friday.

Barnum read probably fifty letters exchanged by Platt and Roosevelt in 1899, letters that showed very plainly how closely boss and governor were working together in that year. Colonel Roosevelt admitted with the utmost frankness that he had consulted Platt at all times in the year referred to—1899—and that he always tried to please Platt when he thought it was right because he regarded Platt as the leader (or boss) of the party and considered it his duty as a good organization man.

Colonel Appoints Platt Tammany Man. Barnum threw at him, as the Platt-Roosevelt correspondence was droned to the jury, name after name that had passed between him and Platt as suggested appointees. Roosevelt admitted that he named District Attorney Hill of Erie county at Platt's suggestion, that he had persuaded Platt to endorse an architect named Trowbridge for government work; that he had appointed as a tax commissioner a man recommended by Senator Grady, the Tammany leader, because Platt wanted it done; that he had made numerous appointments at Platt's request; that he had discussed his messages in advance with Platt; that he had relied on Platt for support in getting the civil measure and other measures through the legislature; that he had consulted Platt about appointing judges, and that he had talked privately with Platt about governmental matters in many conferences in New York city.

Cargo Overboard by German Order. Copenhagen, April 27.—The Danish steamer Sleavig was stopped by a German torpedo boat off Falsterbo and ordered to unload the cargo of coal which it was carrying from England to Worrkoeping.

The words of Lowell seem to apply especially to the care of the home; the corn broom was supplanted by the carpet sweeper, the carpet sweeper by the New 1915 Duntley Vacuum Cleaner and Sweeper combined; the new way is by far the best way, the 12 inch suction nozzle runs along in front of the sweeping brush and gathers up all the dust, the sweeping brush then picks up the litter, the cleaning is soon done and no dusting is necessary; you can run the New Duntley much easier than you can use a broom and you do not raise a fog of dust with the Duntley, and, too, they last a long, long time and cost you ONLY $5.00.

Mr. Mannion explained that the seat was back so far that nobody wanted to sit in it, although James Buckley, the genial supervisor from Maytown who had just been defeated for chairman, spoke up and said, "Oh, leave it where it is and give it to me." The seat will be moved up in front.

On motion of Supervisor John M. Sterling, a unanimous rising vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring chairman, Clinton C. Buckalew, who thanked the members for their kindness and courtesy to him.

CANADIAN LOSSES INCREASE

Additional Casualty List Brings Number of Officers up to 96.

Ottawa, Ont., April 27.—Major General Hughes was advised by cable that after four days' hard fighting the Canadian division is now in reserve. An additional casualty list brings the total losses among officers up to ninety-six. Casualties among noncommissioned officers and men are coming in slowly but the military authorities estimate the total losses of the division in the three days' fighting including killed, wounded and missing at 2,500. The Berlin claim to 1,600 Canadian prisoners, is regarded as not outside the realm of probability.

"PROOF" OF UNFRIENDLY DESIGNS.

Fresh proof of Japan's intention to seize a naval base on the west coast of Mexico is revealed in the order recalling to their home stations Japanese warships in Pacific waters near the American coasts, says the New York World, in biting sarcasm. The move is a blind that will deceive no intelligent jingo. So long as the armored cruiser Asama remains aground in Turtle Bay, where it was wrecked last December, it would be silly to acquit Japan of harboring unfriendly designs against the United States. It would not throw away a valuable warship at that lonely spot in war time unless it were working on a well prepared plan to capture the Panama canal.

If the United States were secretly plotting to make war upon Japan, it would not miss the first opportunity to run a dreadnought aground on the coast of Formosa. After it had spent several months in an unsuccessful attempt to salvage the battleship, it would scatter the fleet from Patagonia to the Piraus or put it in drydock, as a signal that everything was ready for the immediate invasion of Japan.

It is only because by nature most Americans are gullible almost past belief that they fail to see at a glance the ominous significance of the wrecking of a Japanese cruiser in Turtle Bay.

THE GERMAN SOLDIER.

Hindenburg may not be entitled to the glory of comparison with such generals as Lee or Wellington, but his achievements in the war against the Russians give him the highest standing among the soldiers of the kaiser, and the great battle, details of which have appeared in the American newspapers, heighten his fame.

He could have accomplished nothing like what he has accomplished if he had not been backed up by an army of extraordinary fitness. The world has never seen before so great an army for endurance. Stories come from American witnesses of German armies marching thirty miles a day, day after day, in heavy marching order, then doing forty miles on the last day and going into battle at once. Irvin Cobb says he saw at least a million German soldiers on the march and did not see a straggler. A man need not be a Napoleon to secure victories against armies of average men with such material behind him.

It is not wholly, it is not chiefly due, to the superior means of transportation that the Germans were able to administer so crushing a defeat to the advancing Russians. The envelopment of the right wing near Tilsit was accomplished because of the splendid physical powers of the German private soldier.

THE WILL TO BELIEVE.

Kansas City Times: In December, 1776, the fortunes of the American patriots were at their lowest ebb. Washington's army was reduced to a band of 3,000 men, and the dissatisfaction in the central colonies was extreme. They were commonly referred to by the revolutionary leaders as "the enemy's country." On December 18 Washington wrote a letter to his brother, Augustine, telling of the difficulties that beset him, how with 3,000 men he was dodging Howe's 12,000.

"In a word, my dear sir," he wrote, "if every nerve is not strained to recruit the new army with all possible expedition, I think the game is pretty near up."

The game was pretty near up. That it was not wholly up was due to the inflexible will of Washington. If he had thrown up his hands and said, "Oh, what's the use? I'm not getting any support from the country, and my untrained soldiers can't fight British regulars," if he had admitted what to everybody else must have seemed inevitable, the game would have been up.

His courage and the way he made his ideals come true constitute a magnificent example of what William James proclaimed in his essay on "The Will to Believe." Independence came because Washington believed it would come and acted on that belief.

So many of us fail because we have the will to disbelieve!

THE FOURTH OF JULY IN DIXON. COME.

Dixon is going to have another Fourth of July celebration. It will be a dandy if it comes up to the one held two years ago, but the management tells us that this year's affair will make the last one look like a school election day. Charles Miller is the general manager of the show, and Chas. is considerable of a little organizer. Make your plans to be in Dixon on Monday, the 5th of July, for that is the day of the big noise. Among other things, Mr. Miller is completing arrangements with Kaiser Bill and King George for a couple of their dreadnoughts, and a sea battle will be staged just above the dam. Trenches will be dug along both banks of the river so that the innocent bystanders may watch the fun without getting their pins shot out from under them. Mr. Miller guarantees that you will be perfectly safe. Bring the children.

SENATOR BORAH'S DECLARATION.

In the round-up there is every reason to believe Senator Borah will have serious consideration. It is too soon, however, for weighing individuals. What the party needs is to get together at the proper time on someone big enough and strong enough to bring all republican factions in harmony. Ten or twelve months from now the situation will be better understood.

LET THE GOOD WORK GO ON.

After calling women detectives to their aid, officers of the New York state game conservation commission have captured aigrets worth $10,000 from five dealers in millinery supplies in the big city. The offenders have not only lost the goods, but are liable to a fine of $60 each and an additional penalty of $25 for each bird. Good work well done, and more of it is in order.—Springfield Republican.

OF CRIMSON HUE.

With Mr. Justice Andrews, '80, on the bench, and Messrs. Roosevelt '80, and Barnes, '88, in the roles of defendant and plaintiff, it looks like an all-Harvard event at Syracuse.—Providence Journal.

"I'm sorry, but we're full up" said a German officer to a couple of Russians trying to surrender, according to the way Abe Martin heard it.

THE MAGNATE.

The magnate, in these modern days, is but a timid, nervous wretch; he trembling goes his destined ways, as though pursued by old Jack Ketch. The legislatures of the west have robbed him of his cherished goat, and in the east he has no rest—reformers have him by the throat. If you would rise in politics, the way is easy, smooth and broad; just slug the magnate with some bricks, and all the Peepul will applaud. Investigate him every day, and harry him by methods raw, and make him fool his wealth away, with foolish suits in courts of law. Appoint a dozen crazy "boards" to hamper and restrict his biz; no sympathy the world affords to him of anything of his. It's safe the magnate to abuse, to vilify and bully-rag, and then the Peepul will enthuse, and say you've saved Your Country's Flag. And so the magnate slinks along, with none to cheer him or defend, 'the man who's always in the wrong, who seeks in vain to find a friend. You ask what is the magnate's crime, that every cudgel on him breaks? He has made this nation great, sublime, and so we hate him worse than snakes.

Springfield Republican: It is odd to see compulsory soldiering still being recommended, in these advanced and skeptical days, on educational and economic grounds, and the arguments advanced seem suspiciously like those which used to be offered in behalf of Latin and mathematics. Disciplinary subjects are now in disfavor. Laboratory experts tell us that ability gained in one field cannot be transferred to another, that the way to learn anything is to learn it directly and not waste time in fortifying with irrelevant gymnastics. There is value in almost any kind of stern, hard discipline, but whether it is the highest value is another matter; that can be determined only by careful comparison, which is just what the advocates of the conscription avoid.

A New Method of Baking Cakes

Mrs. Nevada Briggs, the baking expert, says:

"There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and evenly—give them time to rise before a crust is formed and the batter is stiffened by cooking."

"If using a gas, gasoline or oil stove, light your oven when you put the cake in and keep the flame low until the cake has doubled in bulk; then increase the heat until it is evenly browned and will respond to the pressure of the finger. If using a coal or wood range, leave the oven door open until the cake is in; then turn on the drafts and by the time the oven is at baking temperature, the cake will have raised sufficiently."

For rich, moist, feathery cakes Mrs. Briggs always recommends

KC BAKING POWDER

It is double acting and sustains the raise. You can open and close the oven door, turn the tin around in the oven or do anything else necessary, without any danger of making the cake fall.

Try your favorite cake next time with K C Baking Powder and see how much higher it will rise. Make it just as you always do, with the same quantity of baking powder. While K C is less expensive than the old fashioned baking powders, it has even greater leavening strength and it is guaranteed pure and healthful.

HELEN KELLER WILL LECTURE TO DIXONITES

Since then she has written three books and has devoted herself to work for the blind and the deaf. At several meetings in their behalf, she has delivered a spoken address. But her voice did not carry far then and it was always necessary for some one to repeat what she said, sentence by sentence.

During the past year she taken another step forward in her remarkable career. Under the instruction of Mr. Charlie White, a teacher of singing at the New England Conservatory of Music, she has greatly improved her speaking voice. During the summer of 1912 she spoke before a convention of teachers of the deaf at Providence, R. I. This was the first time that she stood alone on a public platform. A few months later she addressed an audience of physicians at the Otological Congress held in Boston at the Harvard Medical school. The success of these experiments has encouraged her to appear before the general public.

Wayne P. Hendricks returned to Chicago after a few days visit here with friends.

Mrs. John Geiger of route 6 was in Dixon today.

Curtainings for the windows and doors is a subject of far greater importance than most people realize, from within the home they exert a very great influence upon the furnishing scheme; they have much to do with harmonizing and bringing about that delicate refinement sought for, while from without, the window drapery has a paramount bearing upon the character of the home and of the people who live there.

While it is true that clothes do not make a man—yet it is just as true that they often help him to get a better job. And while draperies do not make a home, it is just as true that they portray in a large measure that degree of refinement of the user. Our Curtain Showings make possible the desired effect; you may select them at any price range you care to pay; it does not matter about the price; it's the quality, style and newness that count most. Come in and see them for yourself.

PEORIA WOMAN TELLS EXPERIENCE

Mrs. W. L. McClellan, of Peoria, suffered torture from indigestion, gas, belching and other symptoms of stomach trouble. She spent large sums of money for doctors' advice and medicine. Still her condition did not improve. She found relief, wonderful, surprising relief in a drug store window. This is her story, as she tells it: "I suffered so from distention and colicky pains that at times I was completely incapacitated for my household work. I saw a window display of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and decided to purchase a bottle, which I did. I have taken only one bottle and the results have been really wonderful. I have not had a pain in my stomach since, and let me say that for the first time in many months, two days following I have had a natural movement of the bowels. I feel I cannot say enough for the remarkable virtues of your remedy." Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your drugstore now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

DETECTIVE THROWN FROM MOVING TRAIN

RAILROAD OFFICER HAD PECULIAR ACCIDENT AT DEKALB.

DeKalb, Apr. 26—A. J. Larson, a railroad detective employed by the North Western, was seriously injured yesterday morning at 2:30 o'clock, when in some manner he was thrown or fell off a fast freight train which was going west. The accident happened just west of town.

No one knows what happened but the man came wandering into the depot a little after 3:30 a. m. with a bad gash beside his right eye and with a terrible injury on the top of his head. His mind seemed to be wandering, but he knew enough to come for help.

The train on which he was riding is reported to have gone through DeKalb at a fearful rate of speed and Larson was standing upon the back platform of the caboose the last thing he remembers before he awoke up alongside of the tracks west of town. He had reason enough to get off the track and went out to the road and followed it to town, falling down several times on his way in.

Dramatic Notes

FAMILY THEATRE.

"Bags of Gold," a three reel Lubin drama full of thrilling situations and excellent acting is the feature on tonight's bill at the Family. The other picture will be "The Fable of the Bachelor and the Back Pedal," an Essanay comedy which should make a hit.

On Wednesday the management has secured the great five act play of "The Man on the Box," by Harold McGrath. The story of the play is as follows:

Lieutenant Bob Warburton, a fancy-free, adventurous spirit is wounded during an encounter with the Indians and taken to the home of Colonel Annesley for medical treatment. Recovering, Bob finds that his service in the army has expired and he says he is flat broke. However, he is rich in romance and becomes fascinated by the Colonel's daughter Betty. Betty, not knowing who Bob is, offers him a position as coachman, which he accepts. Many and varied are Bob's experiences as "The Man on the Box" of the Annesley coach.

Becoming implicated in a plot to defraud the United States government of important plans, he thwarts the attempts of a Russian count and saves the plans.

Betty, while visiting Bob's sister, who is a dear friend, learns from a photograph of Bob who he is, but allows him to continue as coachman. Bob is entirely ignorant of Betty's knowledge of his identity.

Betty's father loses his money; then Bob discloses his identity and admits he is the possessor of a large fortune in his own right; however, Betty's and Bob's romance is one of pure love, and, after a series of intrigues, plots and counter-plots, all of which "The Man on the Box" foils, the couple are married and live happily ever after.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Tonight the feature at the Princess is entitled "Station Content," a Romance drama with Wallace Reid and Catherine Henry in the leading roles in an eloquent story of a man and his wife. This is a drama that all will be interested in, as it deals with a domestic problem which is very common. The other pictures are a Keystone comedy entitled "Fatty's Faithful Fido," a very funny comedy with Roscoe Arbuckle in the leading role. The last reel is a Majestic drama entitled "A Story of a Story," with Eugene Palette and Miriam Cooper in the leading roles. This is an emotional drama of an author's conscience.

Collins Dysart, who has been quite ill, is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Eberly and Mrs. Charles Crawford and children of this city, and Wilbur Smith of Sublette, a grandson, took dinner on Sunday at the O. D. Sweetman home.

Have Repulsed Determined German Attacks—Two Ships Are Sunk

(Associated Press)
GERMANS ARE HALTED
The German rush in Flanders has been halted. Today's Berlin report shows the Germans to be on the defensive on a new line north of Ypres. The British attack, Berlin adds, broke down with an "extraordinary heavy rush by the enemy." The allies claim to have retaken part of their lost territory.

The Swedish steamer Centric, 260 feet long, was sunk by a mine near the Aland Islands. The crew was saved.

BOMB IN WAR OFFICE.

A powerful clock work bomb was found hidden yesterday in the Ministry of War building in Constantinople, according to Salonika dispatches. The bomb, it is reported, was timed to explode when Minister of War Enver Hasha, Field Marshal von Der Goltz, General Vonsanders and others were holding counsel. It is reported that the bomb was placed in the room by a sweep who had come to clean the chimney, and who then disappeared. Several minor officials of the ministry were arrested. It is believed the plot was against the Young Turks and the Germans.

RUSS RESUME OFFENSIVE.

Dispatches to the Geneva Tribune say that the Russians have begun another strong offensive movement near Uzzok Pass, in the Carpathians, and that the Austro-German casualties there during the last two days were 20,000 men.

In the great battle now under way in Flanders, the town of Luzerne, which is the storm center of the battle, has again been taken from the Germans. This makes the fourth time it has changed hands. It is an important place.

LONDON SPECULATES.

London is speculating whether the fierce attack of the Germans is an attempt to force their way to the Channel or whether it is a feint preparatory to striking a blow at some other point on the 600 mile front. It is admitted, however, that the Germans have already gained substantial success in this battle. The British press is demanding that the government expedite the sending of a new army to France.

VIENNA CLAIMS VICTORIES

CHILD LABOR LAW READY FOR REPORT

SUBCOMMITTEE WILL PROBABLY RECOMMEND ITS PASSAGE TOMORROW.

James E. Davis of Galesburg, chairman of the sub-committee of the House of Representatives, which was appointed to investigate and report on the Shurtleff Child Labor bill, announces that his committee will make their report to the Industrial Affairs committee next Wednesday.

"I think the sub-committee will be unanimous in reporting the bill with the recommendation that it should pass," states Mr. Davis. "There are several minor amendments we have to suggest to the committee," said he, "but none that vitally affects the bill as originally drafted. The hearings held in Chicago, Decatur, Peoria and East St. Louis and the personal investigation made in these cities by members of the committee, have convinced us that the proposed new law is a good one and that it is needed."

The advocates of the bill feel that their claims regarding the conditions which demand this legislation have been substantiated. Herschel H. Jones, of the National Child Labor committee, who is assisting the Illinois Child Labor committee in their effort to secure the new law, has the following to say:

"The hearings and investigations have not only been a help to the members of the sub-committee in finding the facts about child employment in Illinois, but they have strengthened the conviction of those who are sponsoring the bill. Though we knew that thousands of children of 14 and 15 years of age were leaving school every year to drift from one petty job to another, and to escape the compulsory education law by means of their working permits, we did not realize how universally it is now recognized among the employers, working people and the public generally that the children should be kept in school up to 16 years of age. Both in Decatur and Peoria manufacturers testified that they had no objection to the minimum 16-year age limit and that they believed children should be kept in school longer than they now are. In both these places, as well as in Chicago, working women who had struggled to give their children an education and laboring men representing those who will be most affected by the law, came to the committee hearing and requested that the bill be passed."

Not only was the evidence found to be unquestionably in favor of raising the minimum age to 16 for employment while the schools are in session, but facts were brought out showing the necessity for prohibiting boys under 21 from night messenger service that takes them into the viles life of the city.

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulisified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two tea-spoonsfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulisified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

PEG O' MY HEART

By J. Hartley Manners

A Comedy of Youth Founded by Mr. Manners on His Great Play of the Same Title—Illustrations From Photographs of the Play

Copyright, 1913, by Dodd, Mead & Company

CHAPTER XIX.

Peg and Jerry.

PEG went haphazardly around the room examining everything, sitting in various kinds of chairs, on the sofa, smelling the flowers, and wherever she went Jerry followed her at a little distance.

"Are you going to stay here?" "Mebbe I will and mebbe I won't." "Did your aunt send for you?" "No, me uncle—me Uncle Nat."

"Nathaniel Kingsnorth!" cried Jerry in amazement. Peg nodded.

"Sleepin' in his grave, poor man." "Why, then, you're Miss Margaret O'Connell?"

"I am. How did you know that?" "I was with your uncle when he died."

"Were ye?" "He told me all about you." "Did he? Well, I wish the poor man 'nd ha' lived. An' I wish he'd 'a' thought o' us sooner—he with all his money an' me father with none an' me his sister's only child."

"What does your father do?" Peg took a deep breath and answered eagerly. She was on the one subject about which she could talk freely—all she needed was a good listener. This strange man, unlike her aunt seemed to be the very person to talk to on the one really vital subject to Peg. She said breathlessly:

"Sure me father can do anything at all—except make money. An' when he does make it he can't kape it. He doesn't like it enough. Nayther do I. We've never had very much to like, but we've seen others around us with plenty, an' faith, we've been the happiest—that we have."

She only stopped to take breath before on she went again:

"There have been times when we've been most starvin', but me father never lost his pluck or his spirits. Nayther did I. When times have been the hardest I've never heard a word of complaint from me father nor seen a frown on his face. An' I'm sick for the sight of him. An' I'm sure he is for me—for his 'Peg o' My Heart,' as he always calls me."

She uncovered her eyes as the tears trickled down through her fingers.

"Don't do that," he said softly as he felt the moisture start into his own eyes.

"I don't often cry," she said. "Me father never made me do it. I never saw him cry but twice in his life—once when we made a little money an' we had a mass said for me mother's soul an' we had the most beautiful candles on Our Lady's altar. He cried then, he did. An' when I left him to come here on the ship—an' then only at the last minute."

In a moment she went on again:

"I cried myself to sleep that night, I did. An' many a night, too, on that steamer."

"An' I wish I hadn't come—that I do. He's missin' me every minute—an' I'm missin' him. An' I'm not goin' to be happy here either."

"I don't want to be a lady. An' they won't make me one, ayther, if I can help it. 'Ye can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear,' that's what me father always said. An' that's what I am. I'm a sow's ear."

She stopped.

"I'm afraid I cannot agree with you."

She looked up at him and said indifferently:

"That's what I am. I'm a sow's ear."

"When the strangeness wears off you'll be very happy. You're among friends."

Peg shook her head and said bitterly: "No, I'm not. They may be relations, but they're not me friends."

He turned to Peg and said:

"When they really get to know you, Miss O'Connell, they will be just as proud of you as your father is—as I would be."

Peg looked at him in whimsical astonishment: "You'd be? Why should you be proud of me?"

"I'd be more than proud if you'd look on me as your friend."

"A friend is it?" cried Peg warily. "Sure I don't know who you are at all," and she drew away from him. She was on her guard. Peg made few friends. Why this man calling himself by the outlandish name of Jerry should walk in out of nowhere and offer her his friendship and expect her to jump at it puzzled her. Who was he?

"Who are ye at all?" she asked. "No one in particular," answered Jerry between gasps.

"I can see that," said Peg candidly. "I mean what do ye do?"

"Everything a little and nothing really well," Jerry replied. "I was a soldier for awhile; then I took a splash at doctoring, read law, civil engineering in South America for a year; now I'm farming."

"Farming?" asked Peg incredulously. "Yes. I'm a farmer."

Peg laughed as she looked at the well cut clothes, the languid manner and easy poise.

"It must be mighty hard on the land and cattle to have you farmin' them," she said.

"It is," and he, too, laughed again. She started up the staircase leading to the mauve room.

Jerry called after her anxiously: "No, no, Miss O'Connell! Don't go like that."

"I must," said Peg from the top of the stairs. "What will I get here but to be laughed at an' jeered at by a lot of people that are not fit to even look at me father? Who are they, I'd like to know, that I mustn't speak his name in their presence?"

Suddenly she raised her hand above her head, and in the manner and tone of a public speaker she astounded Jerry with the following outburst:

"An' that's what the Irish are doin' all over the wurld. They're driven out of their own country by the English an' become wanderers on the face of the earth, an' nothin' they ever earn 'll make up to them for the separation from their homes an' their loved ones!" She finished the peroration on a high note and with a forced manner such as she had frequently heard on the platform.

She smiled at the astonished Jerry and asked him:

"Do ye know what that is?" "I haven't the least idea," he answered truthfully.

"That's out of one of me father's speeches. He father makes grand speeches. He makes them in the cause of Ireland."

"Oh, really! In the cause of Ireland, eh?" said Jerry.

"Yes. He's been strugglin' all his life to make Ireland free, to get her home rule, ye know. But the English are so ignorant. They think they know more than me father. If they'd do what me father tells them sure there'd be no more trouble in Ireland at all."

"Really?" said Jerry quite interestedly.

"Not a bit of trouble. I wish me father was here to explain it to ye. He could tell ye the whole thing in a couple of hours. I wish he were here now just to give you an example of what fine speakin' really is. Do you like speeches?"

"Very much—sometimes," replied Jerry guardedly.

"Me father is wonderful on a platform with a lot o' people in front of him. He's wonderful. I've seen him take two or three hundred people who didn't know they had a grievance in the wurld—the poor creatures—they were just contented to go on bein' ground down an' trampled on an' they not knowin' a thing about it—in five minutes after he had started speakin' to them ye wouldn't know they were the same people. They were all shoutin' at once, an' they had murder in their eye, an' it was blood they were after. They wanted to reform something—they weren't sure what—but they wanted to do it, an' at the cost of life. Me father could have led them anywhere. It's a wonderful power he has. Do ye like hearin' about me father?" she asked Jerry suddenly, in case she was tiring him.

Jerry hastened to assure her that he was really most interested.

"Well, so long as yer not tired I'll tell ye some more. Ye know I went all through Ireland when I was a child with me father in a cart. An' the police an' the constabulary used to follow us about. They were very frightened of me father, they were. They were grand days for me. Ye're English, mebbe?" she asked him suddenly.

"I am," said Jerry. He almost felt inclined to apologize.

"Well, sure that's not your fault. Ye couldn't help it. No one should hold that against ye. We can't all be born Irish."

"I'm glad you look at it so broad mindedly," said Jerry.

She stood restlessly a moment, her hands beating each other alternately.

"I get so lonesome for me father," she said.

Suddenly, with a tone of definite resolve in her voice, she started to the stairs, calling over her shoulder:

"I'm goin' back to him now. Good-by!"

Jerry followed her, pleading insistently: "Wait! Please wait!"

She stopped and looked at him: "Give us one month's trial—one month!" he urged. "It will be very little out of your life, an' I promise you your father will not suffer through it except in losing you for that one little month. Will you? Just a month?"

He spoke so earnestly and seemed so sincerely pained and so really concerned at her going that she came down a few steps and looked at him irresolutely.

"Why do you want me to stay?" she asked him.

"Because—because your late uncle was my friend. It was his last wish to do something for you. Will you? Just a month?"

She struggled with the desire to go away from all that was so foreign and distasteful to her. Then she looked at Jerry and realized, with something akin to a feeling of pleasure, that he was pleading with her to stay and doing it in such a way as to suggest that it mattered to him. She had to admit to herself that she rather liked the look of him. He seemed honest, even though he were English. After all, to run away now would look cowardly. Her father would be ashamed of her. This stuckup family would laugh at her. Instantly she made up her mind.

She would stay. Turning to Jerry, she said:

"All right, then, I'll stay—a month. But not any more than a month, though."

"Not unless you wish it."

"I won't wish it—I promise ye that. One month 'll be enough in this house."

"I am glad you're going to stay."

"Well, that's a comfort, anyway. Some one 'll be pleased at my stayin'."

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

LOOK MOTHER! IF TONGUE IS COATED GIVE "CALIFORNIA" SYRUP OF FIGS.

Children love this "fruit laxative" and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach clogs, then your little one becomes cross, half sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach ache, or diarrhoea.

Listen Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the constipated waste passes out of the system, and you have a well playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs," because it is perfectly harmless; children love it and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

George Washington—"Father of His Country"

EVERY AMERICAN knows that without "Immortal Washington" our National Independence would have been impossible. Few, however, know that the greatest battle of Washington's life was fought to secure for his countrymen the Constitution of the United States. Almost immediately after the Revolution it seemed that all the great sacrifice of blood and treasure had been in vain. The original thirteen states refused to revolve in harmony, either in spirit or in law. The new Republic was tottering to its foundations. At this critical period in American history the most brilliant men of each state met in convention and unanimously elected Washington as President—undoubtedly the most momentous gathering of the kind the world has ever known. Here he displayed his great ability as law-maker as he had as a warrior. For months the Fathers of the Republic labored, and finally adopted our present National Law, which forever guarantees Religious, Commercial and Personal Liberty. This was in 1787. Seventy years later Anheuser-Busch established their great institution upon the tenets of the Federal law which Washington did so much to create. Like all of the great men of his time, he was a moderate user of good old barley brews. For three generations Anheuser-Busch have brewed honest malt and hop beers. To-day 7500 people are daily employed to keep pace with the ever-increasing public demand. The great popularity of their famous brand—BUDWEISER—due to quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor, has made its sales exceed those of any other beer by millions of bottles.

Visitors to St. Louis are courteously invited to inspect our plant—covers 442 acres.

QUESTION CLEARED UP

DIXON READERS CAN NO LONGER DOUBT THE EVIDENCE

Again and again we have read of strangers in distant towns who have been cured by this or that medicine. But Dixon's pertinent question has always been "Has any one here in Dixon been cured?" The word of a stranger living a hundred miles away may be true, but it cannot have the same weight with us as the word of our own citizens, whom we know and respect, and whose evidence we can so easily prove.

F. K. Cnare, tailor, 1204 First St., Dixon, says: "I had a dull ache in the small of my back, right across my kidneys. I had heard Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, so I got some at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug Store. They removed the pains in my back and I have had no trouble since."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Cnare had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How to Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more sniffing, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up and miserable. Relief is sure.

Hardwood Floors Add Selling Value

to a house more than anything else you can put your money into. The women folks know such floors cut down house work and are sanitary. Our stock comprises the cream of America's flooring factories and we have it in Maple, Birch and Oak. Any of these woods are desirable as they all take a high polish and hold it. Whether you are building new or just recovering old floors, you should investigate our prices and flooring before deciding on the kind of floor you will have.

JUDGE DISMISSES
MAX KLEIST SUIT

Breitung's Win $250,000 Case
Brought by Son-in-Law.

COURT GIVES STRONG OPINION

Upholds Rights of Parents to Maintain Interest in Children—Says Law Has Particular Application To ward "Exhibition of Sordid Demands" Revealed in Case.

New York, April 27.—Max F. Kleist, former gardener and coachman, who,
as the secretly wedded husband of Juliet Breitung, had visions of wealth, lost his suit to recover $250,000 from
Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Breitung, the girl's parents, for alienation of his wife's affections. Judge Hough, who for almost a week has been presiding over the presentation of evidence in the case, took the decision from the jury and directed a verdict for the defendants.

The judge, in a carefully prepared opinion, propounded what he says is a theory of law, designed to cover such cases and to minimize the scandal and discourage the institution of "such sordid demands as have been exhibited."

Upholds Rights of Parents.
The court laid down doctrine in a new and novel manner. He decided that while parental authority may terminate with marriage the parental relation continues and no parent is bound at the peril of a successful suit for damages to approve of his child's marriage.

"It is my opinion," said Judge Hough slowly and emphatically to the jurors, "that parents are not bound to submit their action as regards their own child to the criticism either of a judge or of jurymen at the suit of the person whom that child has married."

The court held that the conduct of the parents may be such as to render the life of their child more attractive without that child's chosen consent.
He said that whatever parents do is presumed to result from good motives, not from hatred for the child's wedded mate. He decided that no evidence had been produced against either Mr. Breitung or his wife that was culpable.

CLAIMS RUSS ARE REPULSED

Austria Says Many Prisoners Were Taken at Uzok Pass.

London, April 26.—Austria reports that Russian attacks on their positions around Uzok pass in the Carpathians were repulsed and many prisoners taken.

Russia speaks only of increasing artillery fire all along the Carpathian front.

Charity Frauds Honeycomb Paris.

Paris, April 27.—War charity funds running into millions of dollars have been unearthed in Paris. A judicial inquiry shows that out of a total of 147 "charity" organizations in the department of the Seine alone seventy-six are either fraudulent or suspiciously irregular. The police are making wholesale arrests.

Striker Admits Murder.

Fairmont, W. Va., April 27.—Roy Haller, who with 133 others was indicted for murder of Constable Riggs during a riot between striking miners and a sheriff's posse, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

KNOX FUND GIVEN $100,000

Mrs. Ella Browning Scripps Aids in Raising $500,000.

Galesburg, Ill., April 27.—President
Thomas McClelland of Knox college announced that Mrs. Ellen Browning Scripps of La Jolla, Cal., has given to the college $100,000 toward the half million dollar endowment which the college is raising.

The general educational board has pledged the last $100,000 and Dr. Mc-Clelland says there is no doubt the fund will be received by May, 1916.

Mrs. Taft's Sister Weds.
Washington, April 27.—The marriage of United States Senator Henry
F. Lippitt of Rhode Island and Mrs.
Thomas K. Laughlin of Pittsburgh, a winter resident of Washington, took place in the home of the bride, 1622
N street. Mrs. Lippitt is a sister of Mrs. William H. Taft.
